Severe Water Issue

Rudy Fischer, a Colorado River expert, who attended a meeting a week ago discussing this issue, advised the public at the meeting to pray for rain and snow. There are massive Colorado River water cuts, as high as 80%, ahead. This is frightening, as Scottsdale gets roughly two-thirds of its water from the Colorado River. Scottsdale has more reliance on the Colorado River than any other city in Arizona.

Historically, Arizona has the lowest priority among the states in the Colorado River Compact. These states have been attempting to renegotiate this Compact but have failed to agree. The Federal Government is attempting to revise this Compact. So far, it has failed to accomplish this. No doubt whatever the Government proposes will be met with fierce litigation.

In the past, the Scottsdale City Water Department has recycled sewage water and used it for golf courses. This Department now proposes to filter and treat sewage water into the City's drinking water system.

Some of the public refer to this proposal as "toilet to tap." New state requirements delayed this proposal.

Despite this issue, the City Council repeatedly approve huge tracts of apartments and condos like Axon bringing thousands of new residents to Scottsdale.

What do you think? Let the City Council know your thoughts.

I strongly support and endorse the petition that will be presented to the council at Tuesday meeting for budgeting the water projects so desperately needed in Scottsdale to include Advanced Purified Recycle Water, Bartlett Dam Capacity Improvements, Reinstate Water Conservation & Operations staff and strictly follow the Water Strategic Plan.

This is a very serious matter for the city and our citizens. This is no time to cut back on water projects when the rest of the lower basin facing dramatic changes to our water supply.

With respect, Willam Powell

For those who do not know his background or if you want a brief refresher, see below. There is much, much more about his work. Why cut funding? The water supply is in trouble...let's maximize our strengths. You pay me now, or you pay me later.

Thank you for bringing Brian Biesemeyer back to the City. Without his work from 2012 through 2024, the city would not be where it was with water innovation - before he left.

Scottsdale Water Executive Director Brian Biesemeyer is a highly decorated water industry leader recognized for his 30-year career, innovative water reuse, and sustainability initiatives. Notable awards include the 2024 WateReuse Arizona Person of the Year, the 2018 AZ Water Environmental Stewardship Award, and the 2017 City of Scottsdale Bill Donaldson Award.
